

TEAM STORY

Meet Henry David
Senior Accountant - Clark, Philippines

From Holy Angel University to Senior Accountant

My accounting journey began at Holy Angel University, where I built a strong foundation for a long-term career in accounting.

My interest in accounting was inspired by my family. My mother is also an accountant and encouraged me to pursue it as a career because it offers stability, continuous learning, and a wide variety of career opportunities.

From the beginning, I wanted more than just a job. I wanted a career where I could continue learning, take on meaningful responsibility, and make a genuine contribution.

That's exactly what I've found in my career so far.

Building My Career

I began my professional career with Mercedes-Benz, where I worked within the finance team supporting invoice processing and a range of accounting functions.

It was an excellent introduction to the profession and gave me valuable experience working within a large global organisation.

While I gained valuable experience, over time I realised I wanted a role where I could contribute more, take on greater responsibility and have my work recognised. Friends who had moved into the Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) sector spoke highly of the opportunities available, so I decided to explore that path.

That decision led me to Bacchus Advisory.

Why I Chose Bacchus Advisory

I took the leap to work for TOA Global, and while I was completing my training, I was introduced to the Bacchus team. Throughout the interview process, I met several members of the firm, including two of the three Partners, Lisa and Nick.

Bacchus stood out as a firm that genuinely invested in its people and wanted them to succeed.

The team was welcoming, professional and genuinely interested in helping people grow. Rather than simply filling a role, they were looking for people who wanted to build long-term careers.

That really appealed to me.

Growing My Career at Bacchus

I joined Bacchus as a Junior Accountant.

Less than three years later, I had progressed to Senior Accountant.

What has impressed me most is that career progression at Bacchus is based on your capability, your attitude, and the value you bring to clients and the team.

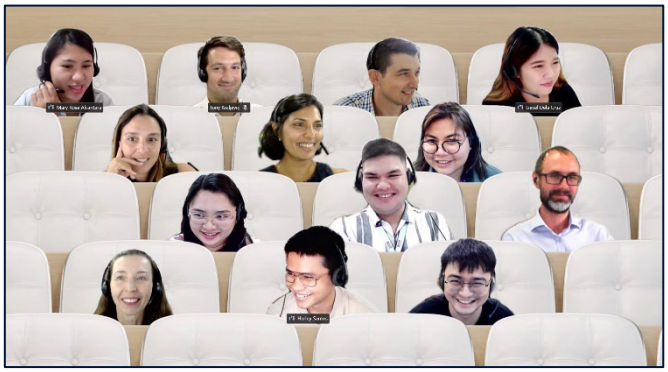

If you work hard, continue learning and consistently perform, those efforts are recognised.

When I compare my career progression with friends who started in similar roles at other firms, I've been fortunate to advance much more quickly. Bacchus has trusted me with greater responsibility, invested in my development, and given me opportunities that have accelerated both my technical skills and my confidence.

It's rewarding to work somewhere that genuinely recognises performance and creates opportunities for people to succeed.

A Better Balance

Like many people working in the Philippines, commuting could easily take more than an hour each way, depending on traffic, weather, and public transport.

Working remotely has made a huge difference to my daily life.

Instead of spending hours travelling, I have more time and energy to do things that are important to me outside of work, like going to the gym, gaming, and spending time with my family and friends. That balance allows me to be more productive while also enjoying life outside of work.

More Than Just a Workplace

One of the things I enjoy most about Bacchus is the culture.

Although many of us now work remotely, the firm continues to invest in bringing the team together. Throughout the year we enjoy social events, team-building activities and celebrations that strengthen our relationships.

Some of my favourites include dressing up as Top Gun characters for the TOA Global Christmas party, along with team go-karting and bowling.

Experiences like these are what make Bacchus different. They create genuine friendships, strengthen our team, and make you feel like you're part of something much bigger than just a workplace.

My Advice to Future Team Members

If you're looking for a place where you can learn, grow and build a meaningful career, I'd encourage you to consider Bacchus Advisory.

You'll work with people who genuinely care about your development, you'll be trusted with meaningful work, and you'll have opportunities to build your career based on your performance—not simply your years of experience.

Looking back, joining Bacchus has been one of the best career decisions I've made. I've been given opportunities to grow, take on new challenges, and build a career I'm genuinely proud of. If you're willing to work hard and embrace new opportunities, I believe Bacchus is the kind of place where you can do the same.
